

PENN PRESS JOURNALS

The University of Pennsylvania Press journals program is an internationally renowned publishing enterprise promoting innovative print and digital content for a wide range of audiences. Penn Press titles are disseminated around the world to support the needs of researchers, teachers, students, and readers as they teach, plan, study, and collaborate.

We welcome interested societies, associations, institutes, and individual editorial offices to submit a publication proposal for a new or existing journal. For more information, please write to Paul Chase, paulbc@upenn.edu. Our journals staff can offer a range of services tailored to the structural and budgetary goals of specific journals.

SERVICES

Capitalism: A Journal of History and Economics
Change Over Time: An International Journal of Conservation and the Built Environment
Dissent
Early American Studies: An Interdisciplinary Journal
The Eighteenth Century: Theory and Interpretation
French Forum
Hispanic Review
Humanity: An International Journal of Human Rights, Humanitarianism, and Development
Huntington Library Quarterly
J19: The Journal of Nineteenth Century Americanists
The Jewish Quarterly Review
Journal for Early Modern Cultural Studies
Journal of the Early Republic
Journal of Ecumenical Studies
Journal of the History of Ideas
Magic, Ritual, and Witchcraft
Manuscript Studies
Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography
Revista Hispánica Moderna

Submission and Content Management Services

The Press offers Scholastica, a sophisticated web-enabled database-driven manuscript submission and peer-review system, to all journal editorial offices. This system makes it possible for a journal's staff to conduct all of their submission and vetting work online.

Editorial Services

Penn Press can arrange for copy editing for grammar, punctuation, and formal style for those journals that do not manage this work themselves. Design services, including interior and cover design, image management, etc. are also available.

Production Services

Penn Press manages production workflows for all our journals, including schedule management, proofreading, typesetting and printing, scheduling of mailing, warehousing, and management of billing and payment for these services.

(see next page for more)

PENN PRESS JOURNALS

SERVICES (cont'd)

Subscription Fulfillment

Penn Press will service all orders, maintain subscriber lists, collect payments, and manage claims and inquiries. Subscriber records are updated regularly, and status reports on circulation are produced semiannually or upon request. Sponsors may obtain printouts of subscriber lists or labels on request.

Digital Delivery

Penn Press partners with Project MUSE, JSTOR, EBSCO, ProQuest and other aggregators to provide digital distribution to libraries and institutions around the world. Data and reporting from these partners can be made available to journals to support their goals.

Promotion

Penn Press undertakes vigorous promotional campaigns for all of its journals targeted at individuals as well as institutions, and cross-marketed with our books program. All aspects of promotion are handled by the Press, including direct mail and email campaigns, advertising, conferences, and social media posting.

Copyright and Permissions

Requests for reprinting and reuse are managed by Penn Press, including requests that come via our relationship with the Copyright Clearance Center. Revenue due to journals from these uses is managed and reported to each journal annually.

Open Access

Penn Press is committed to helping authors disseminate their work as widely as possible. Penn Press will work with journal editors to provide the best, most efficient arrangement for Open Access dissemination of their content, whether it be Platinum, Gold, Green, or a customized hybrid model.

EBSCO

JSTOR

PORTICO

Scopus®